Rockgardening, so popular now, can be made more attractive by the use of bulbs, well selected for this purpose. The bulb family comprises many kinds which can be used to great advantage. Without bulbs, rockgardens do not reach their prime until summer, but when bulbs are used the flowering period of a rockgarden will be extended considerably, as bulbs produce a rich variety of form and color during spring.

Deep, well drained pockets of soil are required for planting the bulbs. The following kinds will be found of special merit;;
